Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 15-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The disclosure "a hollow-walled housing forming a hollow chamber therein surrounding said storage compartment" is not supported by the drawing. The Fig. 1 and 2 show the hollow-walled housing 2 which does not surround (enclose all sides) the storage compartment 9. Rather, the hollow-walled housing 2 enclose only three sides of storage compartment 9 and the fourth side is a door 3 and there is no sign whether the door is hollow and part of the hollow-walled housing 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 15, 16, 18 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by James (GB 389535 A). James discloses a refrigerating device comprising a storage compartment 33; a hollow-walled housing 36 forming a hollow chamber 35 surrounding the storage compartment 33; and a vacuum pump having an electric motor 45 connected via a suction line 44 to both the storage compartment 33 and the hollow chamber 35; a non-evacuatable storage chamber 60; a switching valve 46/48/59; automatic thermal switches 54 and 56; thermometers 52 and 53 and pressure gauge 51. see Fig. 9, page 3, line 35 to page 4, line 130.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 17, 19-21, 24-27, 29-30 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over James in view of Taragan et al., (6,090,422). James discloses the invention substantially as claimed as stated above except a pressure sensor. Taragan et al., teach the use of a pressure sensor 84 coupled to a control timer 85 in an evacuatable compartment of refrigerator 10 for the purpose of controlling evacuation pressure of the compartment. See 1 and 4 and column 5 line 49 to column 6, line 62.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the refrigerating device of James in view of Taragan et al., such that a pressure sensor could be provided in order to control the vacuum pressure of the compartment. Regarding claims 24-27, although James does not disclose loose filling of a support material in the hollow walled chamber but James teaches to use supports of porous member 39 in the hollow-walled chamber 35 .

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 22-23 and 31-32 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims subject to removal of 112 problem as mentioned above.
